

COMPUTER ARCHITECTURE

CPU

It is the part that processes data and performs commands.

RAM

It is the memory that temporarily stores the information that the computer will need.

HDD

It is a memory where information is permanently stored.

B U S

It is the circuit used to transmit data from one component of the computer to another.

KEYBOARD

